The Rural Finance Program at The Ohio State University (OSU) is a recognized world leader in the analysis of rural financial markets and other finance and development questions, particularly those concerning the design and implementation of financial reform and restructuring programs, the establishment of prudential regulation and supervision frameworks, and the provision of financial services to difficult clienteles (small farmers, rural and urban microenterprises, the poor, women) in developing countries. This reputation has resulted from three decades of distinguished research, publications, instruction, technical assistance, and information dissemination. Research results in English and Spanish can be downloaded at the above address.
